

Problem Statement

Write a function that takes in a non-empty string and that returns a Boolean representing whether the string is a palindrome. A palindrome is defined as a string that's written the same forward and backward. Note that single-character strings are palindromes.